To Whom It May Concern,

I am proud to offer my enthusiastic support for the Women's Suffrage Museum, a landmark project that will bring the story of the suffrage movement to life, strengthen downtown Knoxville, and create a lasting civic and cultural destination on the 700 block of Gay Street.

As Mayor, I recognize the significant economic, cultural, and educational value this project will bring to our community. Through an engaging and immersive experience, the museum will illuminate the powerful story of the suffrage movement and honor the women whose leadership secured the right to vote and strengthened our democracy.

As Knoxville continues to grow, residents and visitors alike should have meaningful opportunities to understand our city's pivotal role in the passage of the 19th Amendment. By preserving and sharing this history, the museum will inspire civic engagement and deepen appreciation for the fundamental right to vote.

I invite you to join me in supporting this important and inspiring initiative and in helping bring its vision to life. I look forward to celebrating the museum's opening with our community in 2028.

Sincerely,

Indya Kincannon

Mayor
